New York, Jan. 15.—The resumption of liquidation in the stock market to-

of liquidation in the stock market to-day set conjecture to work for some deeper cause to explain it than the more superficial influences which have given responsibility and which are passing away without relieving the market from depression. Yesterday's action of the stock exchange gover-nors was considered to have definitely disposed of the Rock Island episode and the securities of that company to-day were sustaining forces for prices, so far as they exercised any influence. The reports of the accession of a large foreign interest to a share in the con-trol of the property seemed to have an

as well as alarming those short of the stock, and the two Rock Island stocks led the short lived advance with which the dealings opened. This was in con-tinuance of the strong rally of the lat-ter part of yesterday and the demand from uncovered shorts obviously had much to do with it. The call money market also passed from a condition of demand. The liquidation of stocks continued to put back funds into the money market, which is in course of replenishment, as well as from various other sources. This persistent liquidation is deemed important and as coming from influential sources having in view a prolonged outlook as well as retrospect. Continuous and persistent accumulation of stocks went on for many months during the rising prices of last year and there is reason to believe that the taking of profits on much of this speculation was planned for the opening weeks of the new year, when easing money markets and reinvestment of yearly profits were looked to for the inspiration of a general demand for stocks. Besides this hoped for active influence towards assisting the liquidation, the period for it was fixed by consideration of the need for transfer of resources into various other channels to provide for the need for new capital, which, it was foreseen, would converge upon the money market soon after this time. The large subscriptions coming due for new stock and bond issues prove the accuracy of this forecast and explain much of the subscriptions coming due for new stock and bond issues prove the accuracy of this forecast and explain much of the liquidation. The liquidation was pushed with growing precipitation today and declines of one to three points had become general by the middle of the afternoon. In the Harriman Pacifics, St. Paul and a few others it was even greater. The breaking through of prices to lower levels than had been touched on previous reactions was the signal for the uncovering of fresh stop touched on previous reactions was the signal for the uncovering of fresh stop loss orders and for bringing new burdens on the market. Washington prospects were said to be a principal motive for the throwing over of stocks. The widespread activities of the government in the field of corporation regulation and the prospect of early decisions by the supreme court which it was feared might present ever graver conditions were made the staple of arguments by the sellers of stocks. The stock market showed no raillying power, lowest prices of the day being phy and Collins once in an hour, eatch as catch can, stranglehold barred. The bout is to be put on before the Windham Athletic club on Friday, January 21, the wrestlers getting 75 per cent. of the gate receipts, which is to be split 50 per cent. to the winner and 25 per cent. to the loser.

The selection of the referee is left to the club, subject to the approval of the principals twenty-four hours before the men go upon the mat. As the men have met once before in a handicap match, which was won by Collins because Murphy could not throw him twice in an hour, the coming bout should be a big card to all the friends of the two wrestlers.

Wrestlers Stop Over Here.

Pitcher Jack Chesbro finds himself in a queer predicament. Last summer the New York American league club sold his release to the Boston Red Sox with the provision that if the big twirler made good this season a certain sum of money would be paid by President John L Taylon. Chesbro pitched one or two games for the Red Sox and was batted heavily, but Taylor was not convinced that Jack had seen his best days. Recently Chesbro was asked to go to Hot Springs on February 1, but he refused point blank, saying that he could not begin pitching until late in the spring because of his lumber business in Conway, Mass. So the Red Sox magnate decided not to bother with Chesbro and declared

The University of Missouri will enter a team in the two-mile race at University of Pennsylvania relays in April. It will be the first institution west of the Mississippi to enter a team in the meet.

Red Sox magnate decided not to bother with Chesbro and declared that he would turn the once famous pitcher back to the Hillmen. But President Farrell of the New York Club sterday that Chesbro was now the property of the Red Sox and that the Highlanders did not care to take him back: also that Chesbro's high salaried contract with the New York club expired last year. In a word, neither the Red Sox nor the Hillmen want Chesbro, who will probably be free to sign with some other club or retire permanently. In DAHLEN HARD TO TAG. More Dangerous on the Paths Than Cobb, Says Tinker.

Ty Cobb slides into the bag with great force according to the state-ments of Joe Tinker, shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, but he is not the most dangerous man on the paths, says the Windy City player. He says:

"I hear a lot about Cobb cutting down infielders getting around the bases. Why didn't he spike me when he had a chance in the world's championship series of 1907 and 1908? Simply because I know a base runner's rights and stay in my place.

Says the Atlanta Journal of Mr. Finn, the new owner of the Waterbury

"As the prize hard-luck artist of the universe, Sir Mickey Finn of Little Rock can make a stevedore's annual ball look like a funeral in the potters' field on a windy day in February. Ever since the season of 1901 he has piloted the destinies of ball teams from Little Rock under the most discouraging circumstances ever before enaging circumstances ever before en-countered by mortal man in this pol-luted world. And now, after having met and mastered terrors that would met and mastered terrors that would have chucked fire and brimstone to the discards, he has been put out of commission, at one fell swoop of the politics of baseball. Such are the penalties of fame! But, anyway, if you can equal Mike's record as the gent 'agin de rail,' I will pay the expenses. "I can beat Welsh as sure as you're standing there," said Packey, to his friends who went to the pier to see him off. "He can't hit hard enough to dent a ball of butter. I fought him twice and know him like a book. The first time was in a ten round bout at Milwaukee, which I won on points. I knocked him down in the eighth round with a stomach punch, and he yelled 'Murder! Watch!' He said he had been fouled, but it was a joke. He wanted to quit, Yes, he cut my eye open in that affair, but it was with the seam of the glove when, after missing an uppercut, he chopped me with the same hand, a blow that should have disqualified him.

"The 25-round draw? Well, I can only say that it was my own fault that I did not put him away that time. I dropped him twice, but didn't get under full headway until it was too late. Besides there was something the matter with my eyes near the end of the fight, which Jim Jeffries called a draw. Next day I couldn't read the account of the fight in the newspapers, but I soon learned that one of Welsh's seconds before the fight had put helladonna on Freddie's gloves and that's what alled my eyes. But I'm going to square accounts with Welsh in London." While this cuts ten from the squad, Connie Mack is not by any means standing pat on the playing material he has at hand, but is still angling for likely material. He signed two young pitchers Wednesday of whom he heard good reports. They are Hanker, a right-hander, who has done good work on independent teams in and around Slatington Pa. and a newcomer Slatington, Pa., and a newcomer named Kummer, whom Connie says is good. Kummer is over six feet tall and is a right-hander. This pair will be taken south on the spring trip and will be given a thorough trying out. Question Where He Will Play-$40,000

Rube Vickers' Passing. The passing of Rube Vickers was not entirely unexpected. Rube has been with the Athletics on and off for five years. He did great work several seasons past in the Connecticut State league. That is where Connie Mack first saw him. From the New England circuit he went to the coast and was a star out there. Mack then brought him to the Athletics. Rube's trips to the minors since that time have been the minors since that time have been frequent, he having been farmed out to the Tri-state league on several occasions. Rube was of little help to the Athletics last season. Possibly he did not get the opportunity because the other pitchers were working so well

It now looks as though this excur-sion to the minors is Rube's last trip unless he shows surprising form. Noonan a First Sacker.
